ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This endeavor was led by a dedicated team of the 2015 Special Olympics World Summer Games Organizing Committee, Inc. (“GOC”) including Tom Halleran, Juan Diego Ashton, Rebecca Verdolino, and Larry Ferolie. It could not have been accomplished, however, without the greater support of all those involved with The Special Olympics World Summer Games—LA2015, including Special Olympics, Inc. and senior leadership of the GOC.

Recognition is owed to staff from Los Angeles Unified School District Transportation Services Branch, Los Angeles Department of Transportation, Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority, and the Mobile Source Air Pollution Review Reduction Committee. These agencies and their staff gave thoughtful consideration to the benefits of low-emission transportation services in support of The Special Olympics World Summer Games—LA2015.

Together, the efforts put forth by these individuals exemplified the GOC’s distinctive commitment to the extraordinary: in particular, the goal of making The Special Olympics World Games an internationally recognized, sustainable event. Among the many benefits accrued through these pursuits was the unique intersection between improved air quality and the acceptance and inclusion of people with intellectual disabilities. By all accounts, the Games were a celebration of the courage, joy, and determination that Special Olympics athletes embody.

This report is submitted in fulfillment of MS16033, Clean Transportation Service in support of 2015 Special Olympics World Games by 2015 Special Olympics World Summer Games Organizing Committee, Inc. under the partial sponsorship of the Mobile Source Air Pollution Reduction Review Committee (MSRC). Work was completed as of August 03, 2015.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION & WORK PERFORMED

The Special Olympics World Summer Games—LA2015 were held in Los Angeles County in 2015. 6,500 athletes and 2,500 coaches from 165 countries and nearly 350,000 spectators attended various events at multiple venues. Athletes, coaches, and accompanying staff (designated attendees) were able to reach various Special Olympics World Summer Games—LA2015 venues by low emissions buses. Low emissions bus service in support of The Special Olympics World Summer Games—LA2015 resulted in tangible emission reduction by way of eliminating thousands of automobile trips, and using low emission-producing CNG in place of diesel-fuel powered busses. In providing low emissions bus service for the World Games Los Angeles 2015, the Organizing Committee limited congestion for all motorists on streets and freeways around The Special Olympics World Summer Games—LA2015 footprint. The details of the service provided, funded, in part, by the MSRC, are outlined below and in attachments 1-3.

Planning and Administration — 2015 Special Olympics World Games Organizing Committee (hereinafter referred to as 'GOC') planned and administered a low emission transportation service for designated attendees between various World Games Los Angeles 2015 venues (Service). PROBLEMS ENCOUNTERED

No problems were encountered related to the project.

EMISSIONS BENEFITS

The benefits achieved from the project exceeded the benefits proposed, as a greater number of buses than anticipated were mobilized, reducing automobile trips as well as replacing hundreds of thousands of miles from non-clean-fueled buses. Compared to the original plan, additional CNG-fueled buses were mobilized instead of using diesel-powered buses as additional needs were identified. The following table (Attachment 4) details the actual CNG-powered bus miles in service of the World Games, including routes in addition to planned routes. A total of 210,366 CNG-powered bus miles were driven, greatly reducing emissions as compared to using diesel-powered buses to transport Special Olympics Delegations, and, to a lesser degree, emissions from automobile trips that were avoided by the availability of the CNG busses to transport guests.

Many Special Olympics Athletes will Take Clean-Fueled Transportation to their Competitions

With the eyes of the world on Los Angeles for the upcoming 2015 Special Olympics World Games, the MSRC is doing its part to help the athletes and country delegates get to their competition venues in a cleaner, more efficient way. The MSRC is providing more than $380,000 in Clean Transportation Funding to operate 281 compressed natural gas (CNG) buses to transport athletes, coaches, staff, families, volunteers and officials throughout the nine days of the World Games, from July 25 through August 2, as well as pre- and post-Games.

Los Angeles will host nearly 7,000 athletes and 3,000 coaches representing 177 countries. Thirty thousand volunteers will be participating, along with an expected half-million spectators cheering on the athletes. That is a lot of people traveling throughout the city at one time - in fact, organizers say it will be the single biggest event in Los Angeles since the 1984 Olympic Games. With thousands of participants to transport, LA2015, the Special Olympics World Games Organizing Committee, felt it was important to use cleaner transportation options wherever possible and, therefore, partnered with the MSRC to fund a portion of the overall transportation services that will be utilized.

"The MSRC is thrilled to be a part of helping the Special Olympics World Games transport its international delegations using clean-fueled buses," said Greg Pettis, Chair of the MSRC. "Southern California has always been a leader in trying to improve air quality, and now people from around the world can experience firsthand our clean transportation options."

These CNG-fueled buses will transport participants to the opening and closing ceremonies at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, the Athlete Villages at UCLA, USC and Mount Saint Mary's campuses where the athletes and officials are being housed, and to several venues in downtown Los Angeles, Long Beach and Griffith Park, which will be hosting many of the sporting competitions. Special Olympics World Games Athletes will participate in 25 different Olympic-type sports - everything from badminton to soccer to a half marathon.

SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS

The partnership between the Special Olympics World Summer Games – LA2015 and the Mobile Source Air Pollution Reduction Review Committee was a tremendous success. In addition to supporting a world-class humanitarian event, the MSRC helped the GOC minimize traffic congestion and provide over 210,000 miles of clean, CNG-powered bus transportation over a two-week period, instead of diesel-powered buses and automobile trips. The model of the MSRC supporting a large-scale sporting event and receiving publicity in conjunction with that event can only help create awareness in the public arena of the efforts and success of the MSRC.
